

MountainGuard Promotes Tim Hendrickson to SVP of MountainGuard's Western Operations

January 13, 2017

The MountainGuard insurance program is pleased to announce that Tim Hendrickson has been promoted to Senior Vice President for the program's Salt Lake City office, effective January 1, 2017.

Tim will be responsible for the management of MountainGuard's Western North America operations, including sales, risk management, marketing, education, underwriting and claims. Tim assumes his new role following the retirement of Frank Freeman who co-managed the MountainGuard program for 25 years.

Tim joined the MountainGuard team in 2005 as a claims and loss control specialist. In 2013, he was promoted to Vice President where he transitioned from his claims role into a sales/producer role. Tim will continue his involvement in loss control, education and service to the ski industry.

Tim joined MountainGuard with a wide-range of ski operations experience, including risk manager, ski patrol manager, avalanche dog handler, and OEC instructor. His ski industry background includes guest and employee safety, mountain operations, avalanche mitigation, insurance, claims/litigation, events, security and training.

Tim graduated from the University of Utah with degrees in Meteorology and Geography. He was the captain of the soccer team, and played professional soccer following college. He also skied competitively on the Intermountain Freestyle Mogul Tour.

Tim resides in Park City, Utah with his wife Ali and their two boys, Jake and Garrett, where he continues his passion for skiing, biking, surfing and soccer.

Please join us in congratulating Tim on this well-deserved accomplishment!
