A black and white line drawing of a ski lift safety poster. The poster is a large rectangle with a double-line border, supported by two wooden posts. It lists six safety rules for ski lifts. To the left of the poster, a skier in a helmet, goggles, and a jacket is pointing towards the sign. To the right, another skier in similar gear is standing on skis, holding poles. In the background, a ski lift cable runs diagonally across the frame with three small skiers riding it. There are also some simple cloud-like shapes in the sky.
